About:

The songs of Carl Nichols and Johanna Rose are the bridge upon which their influences meet. Just as their harmonies manage to entwine their distinctive voices, the duo's music is also a melting-pot of unique styles. On the face of it they could be seen as a blend of folk and Americana, but that doesn't come close to describing their sound. Together, they form the Milwaukee band Nickel&Rose. They have released two EPs, A Place to Call Home (2016), and Oh Sweet Love (2017). After forming in 2016, the duo has toured all over Europe twice as well as headlined several regional tours in the Midwest, south and east coast. They have opened up for Dom Flemons, Mason Jennings, Robbie Fulks and Peter Mulvey, and had a single named #3 Best Milwaukee Songs of 2017 by the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel. Their new EP is out now.

"Americana" Title-Track Off latest EP

"...perhaps the most perfect Americana track you'll hear all month." —Jonathan Aird, Americana UK

"It's one of the best damn folk songs I've heard all year." [8/15/18]

Nathan Leigh, AfroPunk

"'Americana' reminds me of the true power of songs: while I could write pages and pages about the issues this song raises, Nichols and Rose distill the story to such a fine point that it truly takes my breath away and makes the hairs on my arms rise whenever I listen to it." [8/16/18]
